Monday August 10, 2009 If there was ever a demonstration of what volume can do then this is it! There was no news, just volume and plenty of it.

I blogged about TYE at 10:30am @ .045 on 2.2 million shares. The daily average isn't even 100,000 shares, so clearly TYE was in play today.

You can see the stock opened above the previous close and the volume just followed. You've heard me talk seemingly forever about the psychological price point threshold. In this case it would around .09 .

If you bought the alert and sold at .09 .. yep, a clean 100% profit in one day! It may also be just like AGX last week and gap up again tomorrow morning.
